Files Petition in Bankruptcy.

Emilio E. Fagiolo, a grocer, of 187 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy. He lists his debts at $1,129.64, and claims assets of $1,700, including a $1,000 insurance policy. Attorney J. S. Paladini represents the merchant.

A Dire Threat.

At a county fair in a small inland city several hundred men were engaged in holding down a large balloon which was rapidly being inflated with hot air. The smallest man of the lot looked about him nervously, and then yelled at the top of his voice, "Hey, come and take my place, somebody! I've got to go!" No one paid any attention to him. A few moments later the little man yelled: "If somebody don't come and take my place right away, I'm going to let the old thing go up!"

URGES EQUAL BARS TO IMMIGRANTS

Prof. Gulick Suggests a Percentage Scale for Admission of Aliens.

WOULD REMOVE GROUND FOR JAPANESE PROTEST

Says Germany Is Trying to Stir Up Trouble Between United States and Japan.

That legislation to prevent an overwhelming flood of Japanese immigration to the Pacific coast is an urgent necessity is the opinion of Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, professor in Doshisha University and lecturer in the Imperial University, at Kyoto, Japan. Dr. Gulick believes, however, that any legislation along this line must, in order to avoid serious international complications, be so framed as to operate equally against all and all races and not against the Japanese alone.

Dr. Gulick, who has been in Washington for the past few days, left today for Richmond, Va., where he is to continue his "campaign of education" in regard to the necessity of preventive legislation designed to safeguard the Pacific coast states against a flood of Asiatic immigration and the imperative need that such legislation, when framed, shall not be of such a character as further to involve the United States in controversy with Japan.

Agrees With Californians. "I wholly agree with the people of California," he said, "when they declare that they must have legislation that will prevent their being swamped with a flood of Japanese immigration. Such legislation, however, must be so framed as to include those nations of Europe and Asia which are already assimilated into the American body. The annual registration fee should be, say, $10. A bureau of education should also be established, to set standards, prepare text books and hold examinations free of charge. The annual registration fee should be reduced with every examination passed. Further, a bureau of naturalization should be established, and whatever legislation is enacted should provide that certificates from the bureau of education and of good behavior from the bureau of registration should be essential to naturalization. Eligibility to American citizenship should be based on personal qualifications, and the mere fact of race should be neither a qualification nor a disqualification."

Limit on Immigration. "All immigration, therefore, should be limited to a definite per cent—say 5 per cent—annually from each land of those already assimilated from that land. This rate would allow to enter all who might come from north Europe, would cut down somewhat immigration from south and east Europe, and would allow only a slight immigration from Asia. This would avoid the objection of differential treatment of the nations, and so would be in equal harmony with the theory of naturalization. "Provision should also be made for the care and rapid assimilation of all who do come to America. It is therefore important to establish a bureau of registration and to provide that all aliens should be and remain registered until they become citizens. The annual registration fee should be, say, $10. A bureau of education should also be established, to set standards, prepare text books and hold examinations free of charge. The annual registration fee should be reduced with every examination passed. Further, a bureau of naturalization should be established, and whatever legislation is enacted should provide that certificates from the bureau of education and of good behavior from the bureau of registration should be essential to naturalization. Eligibility to American citizenship should be based on personal qualifications, and the mere fact of race should be neither a qualification nor a disqualification."

The enactment of legislation along these lines, Dr. Gulick declared, would in his opinion solve all the vexing problems now existing between the United States and Japan. A committee seeking a solution of the American-Japanese problem is now at work along these lines, he stated, the committee, known as the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, being composed of the following: President George Vincent, University of Minnesota; Bishop McConnell, Denver; Bishop Hendrix, Kansas City; Prof. Charles R. Henderson, University of Minnesota; M. C. A. Robert E. Speer, Presbyterian board, New York; Dr. William J. Haven, American Bible Society; Dr. North, Methodist mission board; Hamilton Holt, editor of the Independent; Prof. Jeremiah W. Jenks, University of the City of New York; Dr. Frederick Lynch, secretary of the Church Peace Union; Dr. Charles R. Brown, Yale, and Amos E. Wilder, formerly United States consul at Shanghai, China.

Japan Places Restrictions. Dr. Gulick pointed out that since the anti-Japanese agitation assumed serious form in California about six years ago the Japanese government, in pursuance of a "gentleman's agreement," has absolutely restricted the emigration of Japanese laborers to the Pacific coast. As a matter of fact, Dr. Gulick asserted, there are at the present time more than 7,000 fewer Japanese in the United States than there were six years ago.

"A tremendous menace to continued friendly relations between the United States and Japan is to be found in the pernicious activity of Germany," declared Dr. Gulick. "Instances almost without number might be cited to show how agents of the German government have, by the circulation of absolutely false reports and stories, endeavored to embroil the United States and Japan in actual warfare. As recently as August 8, to my own personal knowledge, agents of the German government cabled from this country to decide that a long story to the effect that the United States had decided to send its entire fleet of warships to the Pacific coast, there to look after American interests. The story, cabled in great detail, gave the plain inference that as Japan was about to become involved, with her ally, Great Britain, in a great war, the United States had decided that that was the time to settle all grudges against Japan."

Sensation Created. "This story, of course, created a tremendous sensation in Japan, and excitement was only allayed in the course of a few days when explicit official denials were made from this country that the government contemplated any such move. This is only a single instance of the pernicious activity of agents of the German government in their long continued efforts to stir up serious trouble between the

CURIOUS WAR NOTES.

Money Used in Besieged Towns. The American Shipbuilders.

From London Telegrams. Interesting remembrances of bygone struggles between nations are the old bank and war notes which were issued as were our $1 and 10 shilling notes, to meet a great crisis. Some of these old war notes are finely printed, showing that the emergency was not a sudden one, while others are of the roughest execution.

The Americans during the war of succession were driven to employ great quantities of paper money. They called the vouchers representing small amounts "shipbuilders," though for what particular reason nobody seems able to say. The old-fashioned American shipbuilder, says Sir Martin Conway, in Country Life, was a piece of brown paper soaked in vinegar, so that it may be argued that the name was given to small notes from the dirty condition to which they were soon reduced.

In the Argentine and Uruguay, when Sir Martin was in those countries fifteen years ago, notes were issued and circulated freely, having such small values as a penny or even a halfpenny. They remained in use until they were dirty rags on which only faint traces of printing were apparent.

While in America paper money for both large and small amounts has been circulated for many years past in England we had not used till now £1 notes, though in Scotland they were quite common. We in this country passed through the Boer war without paper money, although our soldiers in South Africa, during the siege of Mafeking and Ladysmith, had notes specially printed for their use for sums between 1 shilling and £1.

In Mafeking they were issued by the authority of Col. Baden-Powell, who was in command, and the Standard Bank redeemed them. The notes for small amounts were plain printed documents, with the 1 shilling, 2 shillings or 3 shillings, as the case might be, in a bold black figure. The 10-shilling notes bore a couple of nice little woodcuts, well drawn and simply engraved, while the £1 pound notes bore small marksmen, a cannon and a charming young woman with a baby on her arm, all very well drawn and apparently printed by some kind of process reproduction, very creditable to a besieged city in the remote parts of South Africa in 1900.

Improved.
